CALUMET, Mich., Dec. 25.—Holiday festivities were forgotten here today as nearly the entire population joined in making arrangements for public funeral for the 71 persons, mostly children of Italian families, who lost their lives in a needless panic at a Christmas celebration held last night for the children of copper

The Coroner continued his work of impaneling a jury to investigate the panic and public meetings were held in nearby towns to take subscriptions for the relief of bereaved families. Out of respect for the childless homes, many parents dismantled Christmas trees.

A drunken, bearded man who is said to have enused the panic when he appeared in the doorway of the hall and yelled "fire" is being looked for by the authorities and officials of the Miners' Union. An all-night search failed to reveal his identity. Investigation showed that there had been no

Bodies of 71 Persons Have Been Recovered.

The exact number of dead is still unknown today, although 71 bodies had been recovered. The identified dead include 34 girls, 19 boys, 13 women and five men. Most of the dead are children of miners who have been en strike since last summer and who are being supported during their id

Because of conditions surrounding the prolonged strike, which has been ontested bitterly by both the miners and the operators, it is believed that should the unidentified man who yelled "fire" be apprehended a lynching would follow. Whole families were killed in the rush which followed the ery of fire Christmas exercises were held in Italian Hall by the Woman's Auxilary of the Miners' Union and children predominated. The cry of fire was taken up in many different languages and in an instant most of the 700 persons in the hall were panie-stricken. The children had been formed in lines and were just starting toward the platform in the front of the hall to receive Christmas presents when the alarm was heard.

Both parents and children made a dash for the exits. Men were

The greatest number of dead were found at the bottom of the state.

Those who reached the stairs first had been hurled to the bottom and were soon covered with the weight of many bodies. Only a compar persons were successful in reaching a fire escape at the rear of the half.

The rush was toward the main exit at the front of the building. A few escaped uninjured by jumping from windows to the ground, only a few feet below.

Father Dunne said. "Under the old plan, many less deserving than others obtained two diffners, thus cheating some hungry youngster, man or woman of a Christmas repast. I think the plan commendable and that those who receive the benefits will greet it with de-light and gratitude."

Maj. Anthony Merriweather, general secretary of the Salvation Army, viewed the family reunion on Christmas as the ideal observation of the day, and de-clared that the new plan of the Postspatch Christmas Festival enabled ndreds of families to enjoy the event never before. He thought the Colise-dinners falled to preserve the Christmas-at-home spirit. Shy, nervous children eat too little upon such occasions while robust, bolsterous children eat too much, he said. Maj. J. Lionberger Davis, a member of the Executive Committee of the Provident Association, said that in sending the dinner baskets to the homes of the poor the food was more evenly divided and reached more successfully those for whom it was intended.

Charles P. I. L. Harnaby, president of the St. Paul de Vincent Society, said he had ferrand no opinion; that, although it might be well to try out the new plan, he was inclined to the belief a greater remainer of worthy persons could be bared for in the Colliseum.

Caris Hilke, first vice-president of the society, hartily approved the change, "When the baskets are sent to the torsel," he said, "the children can be founded and excitement."

A Christmas dinner should be a family affair, where they can enjoy it in private, was the opinion of J. B. Denvir, second vice-president of the society.

"Of course, a large crowd creates a serain amount of good cheer and allarity." he said, "but I think more found in the home. I approve very such the sending of baskets direct to he homes of the poor."

CINCINNATI

LTIMORE & OHIO

Against Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company to Be Reviewed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. Z.—More clearly washington, Dec. 5.—More clearly defined rules for competition in justices are to be promulgated by the Supreme Court. Within the last few weeks the Court has directed lower tribunals to send up choses involving alleged unfair competition for decision which are expected to be second in importance only to the Court's anti-trust decisions.

The law as to patents and trade

The law as to patents and trademarks has been regarded as comparatively settled, but few cases involving the domain of "unfair competition" in business has come before the Court.

St. Louis Case Considered.

The gravity of the absence of definite rules in that sphere was brought out in bold relief before the Supreme Court recently, when the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. of St. Louis complained that its entire profit from the manuthat its entire profit from the manu-facture and sale of a certain line of shoes for four years was about to be turned over to a Cincinnati rival. The um amounted almost to half a million according to the lower courts, of put-ting out a shoe with a name resembling that of a competitor's shoe. That was alleged to be unfair. For the purpose of argument, the St. Louis firm admitted the unfairness of the transaction, but contended that the amount of its punishment should only be the amount of business that its rival failed to get by reason of the act.

The lower court held that was not a proper rule for meting out the proper punishment; but that the erring company's entire profits must be taken away. The Supreme Court decided to

Many business concerns are said to be anxious over the outcome of the litigaion. Carelessness in adopting trade sames is said to threaten them with ion. Carelesan oss of all profits for many years. A rapid change of trade names would robably follow a decision affirming the ision of the lower court.

Another case the Court has decided to review involves the question of whether a flour mill that unconsciously adopted the same name for a brand of flour as used by another mill must turn its profts over to the mill first using the name. The point has risen in the case of an Illinois flour company that developed a trade for a brand of flour in the Southeastern states, only to have a de-mand made in court that its business be condemned as "unfair competition" be-cause an Ohio firm had for years been using the same name for flour in Ohio.

TESTIMONY IS EXPLAINED The law firm of Simpson & Gayeski, epresenting Jacob Brys, has asked the ost-Dispatch, in justice to their client, deny that Brys' wife testified at the trial of his alienation suit against the Rev. Roman Powlawkowski, a Polish priest, that she was surprised when her husband said he was going to sue the priest after he (Brys) had returned home from Union Station, where he had seen the priest off.

This statement was printed in the account of the allenation trial in Judge Cave's court and an examination of the court stenographer's transcript shows it to have been wrong. On this point Mrs. Brys' testimony, which was in the Polish language and repeated by an interpreter, was that when the priest went away her husband was alshe found out Brys was going to bring suit she was surprised because he had seen the priest off at Union Station.

MAN IS DROWNED IN MISSISSIPPI NEAR ALTON

Rescuers Unable to Reach Him in Time to Save His Life.

Edward Hendricks, 55 years old, parryman of Alton, was drowned sissippi River at Alton Wednes day night in spite of energetic efforts of several men to save him. How he got into the water is not known, but it is thought he either jumped or fell in from steamboat dock.

Peter Joest, who has a fish dock be low the wharfboat, heard the man groaning and struggling in the water the shore and going downstream. Several men tried to reach him in boats. Joest and Charles Norman finally go boat to him about a quarter of a mile lownstream. Hendricks was living, but ous, when taken from the water nd dled a short time later.

REJECTED SUITOR'S SHOT KILLS GIRL RIVAL WON

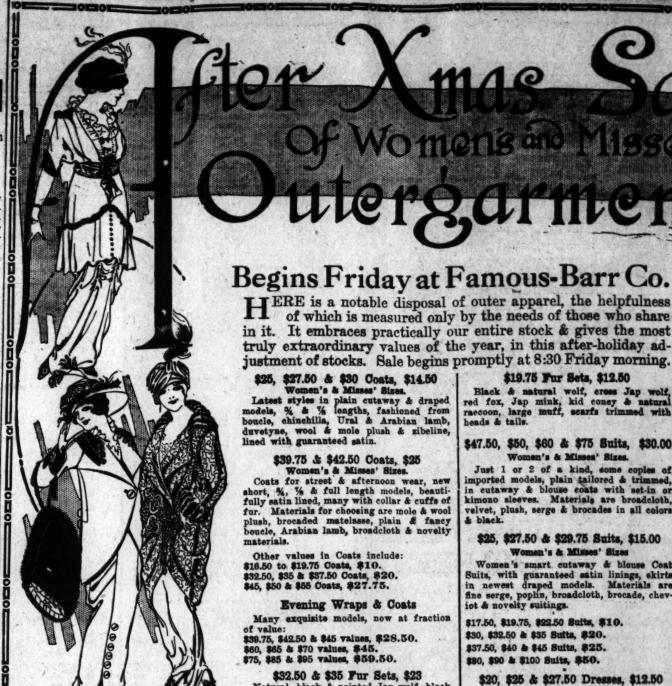

Young Woman Dies From Bullet.

Wound Inflicted on Eve of Her Wedding.

Her Wedding.

Miss Egie Sam Borska, 19 years old of 172 Sidney street, died at the city hospital at 2:30 a. m. Thursday from wounds received on the eve of her wedding, Dec. 16. She was shot by Cahlenka Bonysatyl, a rejected suitor, 37 years old, living on the third floor at the same address.

Miss Borska was engaged to Wladyslaw Rosinik, 22 years old, of Taylor Springs, Ill. With Leona Kuc, the bridemaid, of 172 Sidney street, and Wincento Biscto, the groomsman, they were celebrating the eve of the wedding, when Bonysatyl entered the room and shot Miss Borska, the bullet entering the right breast, and penetrating the lung.

Anybody can be merry if he tries, no matter how poor and downtrodden or miserable he is. determination of equity and justice. Being merry is not a question of your condition in life. It depends on your point of view.

Old Job was merry, even while he was under boils with his potsherd and throw a little ashes but I reckon he had it, because he had lived who made merry while the fox gnawed at his vitals are two favorite heroes of mine, and I like to remember them en Christmas day.

I don't take much stock in forced sentiments for formal occasions, but it seems to me that formidable as well as most elusive and meanest. what is good common sense for Christmas is foolishness about the way it is celebrated, among for Christmas and every other day in the year: sional pursuits. It had a ruthless system of price fore many times proves it is a good thing.

Personally, I never subscribed to the doleful theory that "life is not all beer and skittles." Life is all beer and skittles if you know where to look for them. Downcast eyes see very little on earth that is worth while. They miss the spiritual joys altogether, and for them the sun might just as well never shine. But the fellow who keeps his gase upward not only perceives most of what is ugly. Though cloudy days may agreement. be equally dark for the man who looks up and the man who looks down, it is only the man who looks up that can see the silver linings. The silver linings are the only things worth cured himself by going out and looking for rain-for gloom. She never raised her eyes and she couldn't even see a plece of liver unless it fell directly beneath her mournful gaze. I chloroformed her to put her out of her misery and prevent her spoiling the dispositions of the rest of the pack by association.

On the other hand, the gayest and brightest pup I ever owned suffered from a spinal trouble that bent his head up in the air like a horse where but up, and appeared to be always worshiping me. So our companionship grew very close and he became the pet of the pack, receiving the most of my attention and always getting the best of everything. He was a lucky dog. It would be lucky for some human beings if they were afflicted with the same kind of spinal trouble

Just a word of advice on giving, and then I'll have any. By that, I mean give of your sympathy. It isn't the Christmas presents that make Christmas. They lie on the shelves in the stores all year round. The real stuff that Christmas is made of is the good cheer, the handclasps, the heartfelt wishes, the kindling eyes, ave, the kisses-in a word, the human fellowship. What a beautiful thing it is one day out of 365 to love your neighbor a little more than you do yourself! What a heavenly old ball this terrestial sphere would be if we could wear our Santa Claus suits, metaphorically speaking, every day in the year! If our hearts kept open

Who is the fellow that gets the most out of Christmas aside from the small boy that is crammed with everything that can go to make heart is crammed fullest of goodles is he who has given the most away. And he who gives nothing of sympathy or joy to the occasion will and always. For life is pretty much as a philoso pher said of Rome: "You get out of it only what you bring into it."

THE CALUMET HORBOR.

The Christmas entertainment horror persists in spite of precautions suggested by the tragic experience of former years. The one at Calumet, stituted for candles in ornamenting the tree

This, however look at it. The fact that this has been said be- was due, it explained, to the high standards of the trade which counseled a close observance of current market quotations.

When things happened to an enterprising local dealer who cut prices or invaded territory-when he was blacklisted, persecuted, ruined-it piously disclaimed responsibility. He had only brought misfortune on himself by "unethical" conduct, as a quack brings reproach on himself from reputable physicians. The law, it claimed, could not reach it simply because of its adherence to an ethics of trade that had gained vogue as a result of sponthe things worth while, but misses the sight of taneous individual initiative and not of collective

And the law as administered by divers Federal District Attorneys has not reached it . In the evenings the crimson of the sound used to become scarred and obscured by thick white and purple curves of cigar smoke. The pencil sketches of figures, thumb-tacked to the walls, would seem impossibly out of drawing, and the light from the red-globed electric bulbs would struggle through the smoke like winter sunlight, breaking out at the close of a gray day. And the least important of the figures in the room—those which were not thumb-tacked to the wall—would sti in a group of two or three or four, and smoke and converse lightly upon such frivolous subjects as murders and earthquakes.

BLACKS CLUB

Enraged at Failure to Find Cash They Use Razor on One.

Black-faced highwaymen made mer at the expense of five victims Wednes day night. They met with various ees of success in a financial way.

James Robinson of 8014 St. Vincen venue was carrying a live goose home of $308 Caroline street. Robinson obeyed a command to elevate his hands and the gross flapped its wings in the faces of the bandits so tantalizingly that they gave up their quest for money after striking Robinson on the head. He was treated for a scalp wound at the Missouri Pacific Hospital.

Ten minutes later Thomas Johns of 265 Park avenue was halted by negroes in front of $350 St. Vincent street. He laughed when they asked him for money, saying he had spent his entire fortune on Christmas presents.

"You're a happy old Santa Claus," asid one of the negroes, striking Johns in the face with his revolver.

The robbers ran east on St. Vincent while Johns looked for a policeman.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.-Some plan whereby the giving of intentional bases on alls can be eliminated from major resident Ran B. Johnson of the Amercan League, who recently has received "Many complaints have come to me recently suggesting that pitchers giving intentional bases on balls be penalized, but no one suggested a good method of detecting the intentional pass.

"If we pass a rule forbidding the pass the pitchers simply will make a bluff at trying to get the ball over the plate and will give the star batsmen their bases on balls just the same. This likely would result in a lot of wrangling if the umpires attempted to penalize what they thought were intentional passes, because the pitchers invariably would protest that they were trying to put the ball over.

"Some have suggested penalizing all bases on balls with equal severity, but that cure would be worse than the disease. Fever pitchers would be able to make good should such a rule be made."

If the game is not scheduled, C. B. has announced its intention of booking ame next Thanksgiving day with Texas at Austin. The latter school has offered to could be core level a 2200 guarantee to south for the closing battle next year.

C. B. C. will be able to pix freshmen the Texas game, having the use of Ca. Harry Ratican and Dan McGlinnis, two strends who would be barred under the rules in down by St. Louis U.

FORMER OHIO U. STAR TO COACH C. B. C. TEAM

ANNOUNCEMENT was made at C. B. C. Wednesday evening that A. G. Ward, a former Ohio U. star who has been coaching the Harrisburg, Ill., high school team for the past two years, would be the 1914 football tutor at C. B. C. Ward will succeed Luke Kelly, Notre Dame '10, who resigned. Ward was one of the many applicants for the job at C. B. C. and accepted an offer of 11700 to handle all braches of athletics, it is said. He will take charge next September.

Christian Brothers' College has r fused to play St. Louis U. a football game next Thanksgiving day under the restrictions imposed by the latter in-stitution in its conditional acceptance of the former's challenge.

At a meeting of the Athletic Board at C. B. C., held Wednesday afternoon, to use either him or Robinson in a trade for a first-class right-sider.

CHICAGO, Dec. 35.—Joe Tinker has trade for a first-class right-sider.

As Huggins' offer stands, it does not year men from the St. Louis U. a week ago accepted the C. B. C. challenge on condition that the latter school would abide by the Misposition for 10 days and expects the arsouri Valley rules throughout the 1914 fair to be completed within a few days. it was decided that the college could ill-afford to bar its freshmen from all the games in 1914, although the college Deliberate Walking of Batters It's Now Up to St. L. U.

St. Louis U. officials pointed out that it would be better for C. B. C. to pre-pare its team from the start of the season, using in the early games only those men who were eligible for the St Louis U. squabble. Now C. B. C. has passed the buck back to St. Louis U. and the game will remain in abeyance until the Billiken Athletic Board meets this week to make a final decision.

President Ban B. Johnson of the American League, who recently has received many letters from baseball followers protesting against the practice.

For several weeks President Johnson has been searching for some feasible remedy for the strategic pass, but with no success.

"The intentional base on balls has come to be one of the most, if not the most, unpopular play in baseball," he will be seem to oppose it. So do I. But what are you going to do about it?

"Many complaints have come to me recently suggesting that pitchers giving incoming the protection of the same is not scheduled. C. B. C. has announced its intention—of booking a me next Thanksgiving day with Texas U.

'Dope" Shows Stag Athletic Club Feature Will Not Be One-Sided Contest.

Otto Yacknow, the rugged Cleveland fighter, will have his work cut for him when he meets Kid Banty in the Stag Athletic Club feature here this afternoon. The little fellows have not fought before, but a line on their respective merits is obtainable through their bouts with Johnny Piazzi.

Banty defeated the latter at a Future City club show, spurting in the later for Lee Mages and "Cony" Dolan.

Young Ketchel, who was formerly known as Willie Haller, is seeking a bout with Monte Dale, to take place within the next two weeks. Ketchel has two engagements ahead, one Jan. 1 at Little Rock against Battling Schults, and the other Jan. 26 against that tough product, Bobby Waugh, at Fort Worth.

ing Testament of Celebrated

Princess Altieri, the Duke's wife, who is legally separated from him and is the guardian of their two children, has instructed her lawyer to institute legal proceedings against Cardinal Rampolla's sister, the mother of her husband. The mother says Cardinal Rampolla's recently assured her he would previde in his will for the children and she therefore assumes that his last testament was in her favor, instead of in that of his sister, with whom he was not on speaking terms.

Princess Altieri insists that a thorough search be made for the second will, which, it is known, was made and to which the testator often referred.

Mgr. Le Bisogni, treasurer of the Basilica of St. Peters, has affixed seals on the apartments of the late Cardinal in the Vatican and is striving to stave off the threatened litigation.

The Duke of Campobello has long been moterious for his spendthrift habits. He married Princess Teodolinda Altieri of the great Roman family of that name in 1807. Triing of his extravagance, the Princess left him and went to Turio to live with her children. One of the Duke's liasens was with the beautiful Vittorina Laicocccare, the flower seller, who became a popular actress and amassed a fortune. The Duke is accused of having spent the latter. When he was bankrupt she telephoned to all the clube in Rome that the Duke of Campobello had swinted her.

The Duke fell into the hands of the police at Genca, where he followed his ustom of falling to pay his hotel bills. He was penniless and the hard hearted hotel keeper refused to be moved by his please or affected by his haughty reference to 'lis name and high lineage and handed him over to the police. The center of the scandal is the nephew of the Cardinal, the Duke of Campobello, who was disinnerited four years ago, when Cardinal Rampolla found that checks bearing his name, but which he did not issue, were in circulation to the extent of $10,000. The Duke is a beneficiary of the old will of his uncle, which was made in 1839. is a beneficiary of the old will of his uncle, which was made in 1839.

It is rumored that Cardinal Rampolia's valet is suspected of complicity in the abstraction of the last will. A warrant for the arrest of the valet and the Duke of Campobello is expected shortly. The Cardinal's extate is estimated to be worth $100,000.

With the Duke at the time was the wife of an official of the Quirinal, and a divorce suit followed. The role of corespondent was nothing new to Cardinal Rampolla's nephew.

His Clubs Threw Him Out.

All the clubs to which the Duke of Campobello belonged threw him out when he neglected to pay his sambling debts. Society, which welcomed him in the days when his brilliancy overshadowed his faults, closed its doors when his name became synonymous with trickery and fraud.

Arriving one day at Montecatini, the Duke put up at the best hotel in the place and managed to get along by borrowing money from the servants. He asked the hotel porter one morning for a loan of 20 lire (40). The porter said he didn't have that a mount.

Worth $500,000.

Nicholas Philip Gundlach, 59 years old, a farmer living one mile east of Belleville, Ill., and president of the Gundlach Machinery Co. of that city, whose wealth is estimated at half a million dollars, died suddenly at his home Wednesday night at 11 o'clock. It is thought that death resulted from apoplexy.

Gundlach retired at 8 o'clock in good health. When his wife west to bed later he was awakened and asked her what time it was She said she didn't know, so he got up and struck a match. When he saw that it was 11 o'clock he started back to bed and fell dead as he reached the edge of the bed. He is survived by a wife and 10 children, all of whom live in Belleville.

They all get III. But nothing will keep 'em from going out to the stores and fighting the great Battle of Bargains. To the cry of 'Give us our Chejstmas shopping money early? the women meet at their yearly Armagedian's said Mr. Jarr.

That's a new store on me," said many said Mr. Jarr.

That's a new store on me," said many said will look at this loader coming where Here's a low life what can't afford a wife and home, and so he ain's got a worry in the world. Now, just for his being so happy looking, don't nobody buy him a drink!"

But Mr. Michael Angelo Dinkston, who had been observed passing the window, came in right merrily and wished everybody a joound Yuletide, and, slipping plenty of money on the bar, asked for wassail round.

"You got a nerve buying boose when you need a haircut and a shave and a clean shirt and a shine and everything!" said Gus testily, looking Mr. Dinkston over.

"Mer I hm the Spirit of Christmas!" cried Mr. Dinkston airily. "I make everybody happy to look at me. To strangers I am a constant reminder that the poor are always with us. It's a great comfort to a lot of people to be reminded that, as the good old recitation says. Today is Merry Christmas: there'll be plumduff all secund! By the way, what is plumduff? I only know of it as fictional prop of the conventional Christmas." "Tou should be ashamed, young feler, sto try to kid us and have money a rour mitt and not get a haircut seen," said Gus colemnly.

"I am the Spirit of Christmas; I shall make sverybedy happy." reseated Mr. Dinkston. "Tony, the barbar, forgets his fancor at the Christmas gift wower of safety resore then he sees my unclipped hair, sitchheimer, the tailor, sees everybody happy happy."

SIGHTS OF THE TOWN

"Nice pair of suspenders, lady?" CAN YOU BEAT IT?

She Wasn't Impressed. THE young man of the house really was making good in a way that delighted his parents and brought him much flattery from friends and neigh-bors, but old Mammy, the family ser vant, remained unimpressed.

One day, when he had done a particular brilliant piece of work, he said to think you ought to call me Mr. Charles tion.

"Who me?" she saked. "I sin't never gwine call you Mister. You ain't no Mister any mor'n I's a Miss. You couldn't wingle yo' fingers so pert acuttin' out folkses insides of I hadn't a-kep' 'sm limber wid amackin' an you couldn't hear de patient's heart a'beatin out out of the me forever washin you ef, it wan't for me forever washin you ears so clean! You ain't nothin' but a measly little boy to yo' ole Mammy!"

A Department Store Cabby. THE department store is as disin the Marseilles cabby. The speaker was an advertising experi of New York, says the Washington Star. He continued:

"Yes, even to its own loss the de partment store puts its patrons' interest ahead of its own interest, and thus it resermbles the Marseilles cabby, who, ne hot August afternon, was acc by a lady tourist:

ore. I want to see the sea.' the sea on a hot, blasing afternoon like this? Now, that's very foolish. You'd get all dust and sand. No, don't go to the sea, ma'am. Go back to your room at the hotel and take a nice little nap. That will do you a lot more good." Boys Will Be Boys.

SENATOR CULLOM of Illinois gets a good laugh out of the story he tells about an old lady who, although she is a resident of his State, has a son In Montana.

One day the Senator met the old lady, and, knowing that the son was the apple of her eye, not to say her very heart bones, he inquired as to how the boy was doing. He was surprised to see that the woman dissolved in to storm of lady, "that he's done been sent to the Legislature. I don't know for what, or for how long, but I prays God they'll be easy on him."—The Popular Maga-

A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE in a rural community was presiding in his first case in which a jury had been impaneled. The case was of negligible importance, but had been bitterly concested. There had been many motions and much argument. The evidence was not particularly interesting. The day was hot. The arguments were dult. Then, to the consternation of the Court, the lawyers on both sides demanded that he "charge the jury."

"Gentlemen of the jury." said His Honor, "this is the first time I ever presided at a two-ring amachure circus. The actin' has been derned poor, and I'll only charge you a nickel apiece."—September National Monthly.

"I wish you would request the orchestra to play something more in keeping with the spirit of Christmas."

That the average youngster is usually there with a ready reason was demonstrated the other day by a story told by Congressman John R. Walker of Idaho.

The family was gathered in the den of a happy little home in an Eastern town.
Father was reading the sporting page.
mother was embroidering pink sunflowers and Willie was supposed to be getting his lessons, but Willie wasn't.

"Wille," suddenly exclaimed mamma, looking up from her embroidery, "have you studied your geography lesson!"

"No, ma'am," was the frank rejointer of Will, why haven't you?"

"Because," explained Willie, "page says that the map of the world is changing every day, and I thought that I would wait until things got settled a bit."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Adding Insult to Injury.

A PTER a recent rallway collision in the Midlands a Sectoman was extricated from the wreckage by a companion who had escaped unhurt.

"Never mind, Sandy," his rescuer remarked: "It's nothing serious, and you'll set damages for it."

"Damages?" roared Sandy. "Have I not had enough o' them? It's repairs I'm seeking the noe!"—Boston Transcript.

His Choice.

SAY!" exclaimed Dorothy ecstaffically, "Santa Claus left a real live new baby at our house last night."

"Pooh!" replied the boy from next dor: "that's nothing. He left me a rodevil."

The Tune of the Times.

SAI, waiter," said the man in the fashionable Broadway resiaurant, Twish you would request the orchestra to play something more in keeping with

She Wasn't Impressed.

I WISH I were an artist, I'd keep the boys from flirtin'; "Certainly, sir," replied the waiter. For when they got too fresh with "I'll get them to play the 'turkey trot." I'd simply draw the curtain.

"That's where I shine, too."
